

FIGURE 1

A high-contrast, black and white image of a textured surface, possibly a rock or concrete, with a bright, circular highlight on the left side. The texture is grainy and uneven, with many small dark spots and larger light areas. The bright highlight is a large, irregular circle on the left, suggesting a strong light source. The overall image has a grainy, high-contrast appearance, typical of a photocopy or a low-quality scan.
